The body of serial killer Peter Tobin, 75, who died of cancer after murdering at least three women, has been cremated and dumped at sea after no family forward to claim him after he died in hospital. The evil murderer, who once boasted that he would “cremate and dump” his victims, was given his last wish.

Peter Tobin, who lived in Edinburgh, was first convicted in 1987 of murdering Barbara Watson, 20, and Jane Rimmer, 15, in 1979. He was released from prison in 2007.

The killer, who denied the murders, was faced with a life sentence after being re-arrested in 2016. He died of cancer in hospital in October.

The body of serial killer Peter Tobin, 76, who died of cancer after murdering at least three women, has been cremated and dumped at sea after no family forward to claim him after he died in hospital. The evil murderer, who once boasted that he would “cremate and dump” his victims, was given his last wish.

Peter Tobin, who lived in Edinburgh, was first convicted in 1987 of murdering Barbara Watson, 20, and Jane Rimmer, 15, in 1979. He was released from prison in 2007.

The killer, who denied the murders, was faced with a life sentence after being re-arrested in 2016. He died of cancer in hospital in October.

Peter Tobin was described as one of Scotland’s most evil “psychopaths” and was said to have a long list of victims.

Tobin was released from prison in 2007 after serving 20 years for the murders of Barbara Watson and Jane Rimmer. He was re-arrested in 2016 and died in hospital in October.

The body of serial killer Peter Tobin, 76, who died of cancer after murdering at least three women, has been cremated and dumped at sea after no family forward to claim him after he died in hospital. The evil murderer, who once boasted that he would “cremate and dump” his victims, was given his last wish.

Peter Tobin, who lived in Edinburgh, was first convicted in 1987 of murdering Barbara Watson, 20, and Jane Rimmer, 15, in 1979. He was released from prison in 2007.

The killer, who denied the murders, was faced with a life sentence after being re-arrested in 2016. He died of cancer in hospital in October.

The body of serial killer Peter Tobin, 76, who died of cancer after murdering at least three women, has been cremated and dumped at sea after no family forward to claim him after he died in hospital. The evil murderer, who once boasted that he would “cremate and dump” his victims, was given his last wish.

Peter Tobin, who lived in Edinburgh, was first convicted in 1987 of murdering Barbara Watson, 20, and Jane Rimmer, 15, in 1979. He was released from prison in 2007.

The killer, who denied the murders, was faced with a life sentence after being re-arrested in 2016. He died of cancer in hospital in October.

Peter Andre has opened up about his “horrific” anxiety attack, which he said made him feel like he was going to die. The dad-of-four has been open about his own experience with his anxiety.

Carly Simon has paid tribute to her two sisters, who died of cancer a day apart.

The Grammy-winning singer-songwriter penned an emotional post for the sisters, who died of cancer in October. Simon wrote, "I have no words to explain the feeling of suddenly having no sisters in my life."

Peter Andre says his “horrific” anxiety makes him feel like he’s going to die.

The Australian pop star, who has four children, has been open about his anxiety attacks.

Peter Andre has said he feels like he’s going to die during his anxiety attacks.

The Australian pop star, who has four children, has been open about his anxiety attacks.

Peter Andre has said he feels like he’s going to die during his anxiety attacks.

Peter Andre has said he feels like he’s going to die during his anxiety attacks.

Peter Andre has said he feels like he’s going to die during his anxiety attacks.

Peter Andre has said he feels like he’s going to die during his anxiety attacks.

Peter Andrea says his "horrific" anxiety makes him feel like he's "going to die".